

Our Commitment to Our Donors' Privacy

Delta Institute (Delta) will not sell or trade our donors' names or personal information with any other entity with the intent to solicit or earn revenue from such information. This policy applies to all donor and giving information received by Delta, both online and offline, on any Delta-affiliated platform including our organizational website or pass-through vehicles such as PayPal, AmazonSmile, or others, as well as any electronic, written, or oral communications. To the extent any donations are processed through a third-party service provider, our donors' information will only be used for purposes necessary to process the donation.

Delta adheres to all best practices as set forth by the Association of Fundraising Professionals, and follows their Donor Bill of Rights.

Out of transparency, Delta publishes an annual donor roster in our Annual Report that includes the donor's name as provided to Delta as well as attribution to a general giving level. Our Annual Report is available on Delta's organizational website and may be mailed or a print copy given to donors by request.

Any donor may request to be listed as anonymous, and those wishes will be strictly adhered to.

For more information regarding Delta's donor privacy policies—or to request a change in your donor listing in Delta's annual report—please contact Sidney Freitag-Fey, Director of Development and Communications, at sfreitagfey@delta-institute.org or at 312-651-4344.